Two punts are in motion on the water. One punt in the middle ground has a person standing and rowing, with two others seated. Another punt in the foreground has a person standing and rowing, with one other seated. In the background, a stone bridge with three arches spans the river. The sky is clear and blue.

CAMBRIDGE Summer Music FESTIVAL

1-29 JULY

Welcome to the Cambridge Summer Music Festival

Each summer, the festival brings outstanding musicians to some of the city's most beautiful and historic venues. From college chapels and concert halls to the open air of the Botanic Garden, the festival offers a rich and varied programme that celebrates the breadth of musical performance.

© B Durrant

This year's festival spans everything from chamber music, recitals and masterclasses to large-scale choral works and informal outdoor concerts. Highlights include the magnificent Sea Symphony by Vaughan Williams at Saffron Hall, Handel's dramatic oratorios Saul and Il trionfo del Tempo e del Disinganno in the inspiring settings of Ely Cathedral and Trinity College Chapel, and a sumptuous finale concert from the London Mozart Players. Recitals by outstanding soloists, including soprano Sophie Bevan and accordionist Ryan Corbett, sit alongside opportunities to hear emerging artists and young composers.

We are proud to continue our partnership with Young Classical Artist Trust, who present five outstanding artists. We also continue to support three of the UK's finest musical competitions, with recitals from Ewan Millar (Royal Over-Seas League Gold Medal winner), Lily Mo Browne (Ferrier Award First Prize winner) and Canadian pianist Ryan Wang (winner of the 2024 BBC Young Musician competition, aged seventeen).

The festival also continues its much-loved Sounds Green series in the Cambridge University Botanic Garden, where audiences can enjoy music in a relaxed summer atmosphere, and offers educational events including masterclasses and workshops. A special lecture by the renowned pianist and scholar Graham Johnson explores the art of song accompaniment and the legacy of Gerald Moore.

With its combination of internationally acclaimed performers, rising stars and community events, the Cambridge Summer Music Festival once again invites audiences to experience music in all its variety across the city throughout July. I look forward to seeing you there.

Prime Brass Wednesday 1 July

Well known for its performances at the lighter end of the musical spectrum and popular family concerts, local ensemble Prime Brass makes a welcome return to Sounds Green. Something for young and old alike – expect toe-tapping music that is sure to have you up and dancing!

Arun Ghosh Wednesday 8 July

The Arun Ghosh Quintet brings its trademark Indo-Jazz to Sounds Green. Conceived in Calcutta, bred in Bolton, matured in Manchester and living in London, Arun Ghosh is a leading light on the UK jazz scene, captivating audiences with his passionate and dynamic performance style, and a healthy dose of rock 'n' roll spirit.

The Basin Street Brawlers Wednesday 15 July

Described as 'London's top hot jazz ensemble' by visitlondon.com, the Basin Street Brawlers bring New Orleans style swing and jazz to the Botanic Garden. The band have featured live on national radio (BBC Radio 3) and were featured as CD of the Week in The Sunday Times.

Paprika Wednesday 22 July

The UK's leading Balkan music band, known for their electrifying and energising performances that immediately captivate a listener and lure them into the world of Balkan music. Coming from unique educational and musical backgrounds ranging from traditional folk, through jazz and rock, to classical music, the band fuses together all these styles with Balkan, Gypsy, and Eastern European music to create their own distinctive sound of whirlwind performance.

Cores Do Samba Wednesday 29 July

Led by Brazilian singer Caru Lins, the group explores the infectious, rhythmic and uplifting music of Brazil, especially the 'MPB' style (Música Popular Brasileira), plus samba, bossa nova and funk, and songs by Gilberto Gil, Chico Buarque, João Donato, Tom Jobim, Djavan, Joyce, and Ivan Lins.

Claude Debussy Prélude à l'après-midi d'un faune

John Ireland These Things Shall Be

Ralph Vaughan Williams A Sea Symphony

A monumental choral-orchestral programme at Saffron Hall. Join Tom Primrose and the combined forces of the Cambridge Philharmonic Orchestra and Chorus for a journey through three dramatic musical landscapes.

Debussy's languid Prélude conjures a sun-drenched reverie, while John Ireland's choral epic These Things Shall Be offers a utopian vision of peace and progress.

Vaughan Williams' A Sea Symphony, set to Walt Whitman's stirring verse, is a glorious voyage into the vastness of the ocean – and the soul – in one of the repertoire's most exhilarating choral symphonies.

Ryan Wang piano

Tuesday 7 July, 7.30pm

Pembroke Auditorium

(by kind permission of the Master and Fellows of Pembroke College)

Canadian pianist Ryan Wang captivated audiences worldwide when he won BBC Young Musician 2024. His interpretation of Rachmaninoff's Piano Concerto No. 2 with BBC National Orchestra of Wales at Bristol Beacon, broadcast on BBC Two, Four and BBC Radio 3, was described by The Times as "absolutely cursive, producing drawings where the pencil never leaves the page". His success in the competition at the age of 17 follows an already long list of international prizes and accolades.

This Cambridge performance pairs masterworks of Mozart and Schubert with Mussorgsky's epic Pictures at an Exhibition.

The Brodsky Quartet

Thursday 9 July, 7.30pm
Cambridge Union, Debating Chamber

Since its formation in 1972 the Brodsky Quartet has performed over 3000 concerts on the major stages of the world and released more than 60 recordings. A natural curiosity and insatiable desire to explore has propelled the group in many artistic directions and continues to ensure them not only a place at the very forefront of the international chamber music scene but also a rich and varied musical existence.

In this specially devised programme, celebrated poet Ruth Padel reads her Beethoven-inspired poetry alongside his final work. Michael Morpurgo's poetry about the seasons will partner Vivaldi's ever popular masterpiece.

Tempo

Which path should Beauty take? To Pleasure, which invites her to forget her finitude – or to the life of asceticism extolled by Time and Disillusion? This is the argument at the heart of Il trionfo del Tempo e del Disinganno, Handel's first oratorio for Catholic Rome, written in 1707 to a libretto by Cardinal Benedetto Pamphili. If the title itself ("The Triumph of Time and Disillusion") indicates the outcome of the debates and struggles between the four allegorical characters, pleasure prevails in the dazzling score by the then 21-year-old Handel. La Nuova Musica return to Cambridge after their triumphant debut in 2023 to present this virtuoso work in the ideal surroundings of Trinity College Chapel.

A chance to hear the work of up-and-coming young composers – and to gain an insight into composing techniques, including writing for particular instruments. A number of compositions for flute, piano and cello, written by young people aged 21 and under, will be performed and workshopped by professional musicians, with each composer receiving individual feedback and advice from the musicians and from composer Ewan Campbell. A morning and afternoon session will be held with a break for lunch. Audience members are welcome to drop in at any time. The day will end with a celebratory performance of all the pieces. See website for precise timings.

"My son was very moved to hear his piece being played by professional musicians. It's an experience he will not forget. He learnt so much and is busy applying all the suggestions to his composition."

Programme to include works by J.S. Bach, César Franck, Sergei Rachmaninoff and original works for accordion

Festival favourite Ryan Corbett returns to Cambridge Summer Music.

A BBC New Generation artist, Royal Over-Seas League Gold medallist and Classic FM Rising Star, Ryan Corbett has been described by Sir James MacMillan as "one of the most astonishing and surprising newcomers in Scottish music."

A leading exponent of his instrument, he has given over sixteen hours of radio broadcasts and a televised performance at the Scottish Coronation of HM King Charles III.

Corbett has enlarged the repertoire by creating hundreds of new arrangements for accordion, but no matter how strong his passion for the instrument, it is his dedication to music itself that takes precedence.

'Am I, Too, Allowed'

The life of a song accompanist in the wake of the pioneering work of Gerald Moore.

The legendary accompanist and author Graham Johnson delivers the 2026 Cambridge Summer Music Lecture.

Himself a pupil of Gerald Moore, the distinguished pianist, writer and scholar reflects on Moore's legacy, his own career and on the evolving role of the accompanist in the modern recital tradition.

Drawing on his work with many of the world's leading singers, Johnson offers a personal and illuminating perspective on the artistry, challenges and rewards of a life devoted to song. He will be joined by two singers as words and music come together.

Johnson is recognised as one of the world's leading vocal accompanists. In 1972 he was the official pianist at Peter Pears' first masterclasses at Snape Maltings, which brought him into contact with Benjamin Britten. In 1976 he formed the Songmakers Almanac to explore neglected areas of piano-accompanied vocal music; the founder singers were Dame Felicity Lott, Ann Murray DBE, Anthony Rolfe Johnson and Richard Jackson. He has been a pioneer of the artform – on stage, in the recording studio and in writing for over fifty years.

Eleanor Grant and Gus McQuade have been captivating audiences with their unique combination of voice, guitar and double bass since their stunning debut recital at London's Wigmore Hall in 2023.

They formed their duo as second-year undergraduates at the Royal Academy of Music after they became aware of their mutual passion for exploring multiple genres, from the Renaissance to the present day, embracing folk and jazz influences.

The duo won the Musicians' Company's prestigious New Elizabethan Award 2022/23, leading to their debut at the Wigmore Hall. Since then, they have performed at venues and festivals across the country. From Dowland to Dankworth, Britten to Joni Mitchell, Jacob Collier, Florence B. Price and Hildegard von Bingen, Eleanor and Gus will draw you into their musical world with a sublime combination of words, melodies, rhythms and harmonies.

A magical evening of music and intimate storytelling from a multi-talented duo passionate about showcasing music in its broadest sense.

Ewan is one of the most prominent young oboe soloists in the UK. In 2020 Ewan won the woodwind final of BBC Young Musician, advancing to the Grand Final and giving an "exemplary, richly shaded account" (The Guardian), of Navarro's 'Legacy' concerto with the BBC Philharmonic. In 2025 he won the coveted Gold Medal at the Royal Over-Seas League Competition at Wigmore Hall. He is supported by both the Tillett Debut Scheme and Countess of Munster Recital Scheme, helping him secure further recital opportunities around the UK over the coming years. In 2023 he was selected as a Hattori Foundation Senior Award winner.

In this concert he reunites with his long-time collaborative pianist, the exciting young soloist Tomos Boyles.

Benjamin Britten

Serenade for Tenor, Horn and Strings

After studying medicine at Cambridge, Boyd Neel instead followed his passion for music and founded an ensemble of players from the Royal Academy and Royal College of Music. In 1933 the Boyd Neel London String Orchestra (later the Boyd Neel Orchestra) was born.

A pioneering chamber ensemble, Boyd Neel was responsible for commissioning and reviving some of the most beloved and popular chamber works that we know today.

This programme, especially devised by our Festival Director Ben Johnson, pays tribute to Neel and his ensemble, gathering together music closely associated with them including Britten's Serenade for Tenor, Horn and Strings, which the Boyd Neel Orchestra premiered in 1944.

HOW TO BOOK

Details of how to book for all concerts are available online at: www.cambridgesummertime.com

Tickets will also be available on the door for all events unless sold out.

REFUNDS

CSM regrets that tickets cannot be exchanged, nor money refunded, except when an event is postponed or cancelled, or if it is sold out and we are able to resell the tickets. All information is correct at the time of printing. CSM reserves the right to make any changes to the published programme that prove necessary.

ACCESSIBILITY INFORMATION

All venues are accessible by wheelchair. Please note Sidney Sussex College and Our Lady & the English Martyrs Catholic Church provide step-free access via a separate entrance. A ramp is available at St Botolph's Church to facilitate access. There is limited space for wheelchair users, and spaces may not be available in all price bands. An induction loop is provided in some places – please contact CSM on info@cambridgesummertime.com for information on particular venues. Free tickets are available for carers accompanying registered disabled ticket holders.

FRIENDS BOOKING

Friends of CSM enjoy priority booking and reserved seating in unreserved venues when they book in advance. Seats will be reserved until 15 minutes before the start of each performance. For information on joining the Friends visit: www.cambridgesummertime.com/support-us
